Traditional Lakota Ceremonial Songs are wonderfully performed by this acclaimed Native American vocalist, flute player and songwriter. This is his debut release on Oyate Music Recordings. Beautiful - Articulate - Inspiring. 14 MP3 Songs WORLD: Native American, WORLD: World Traditions Details: Oyate Music Recordings, a world leader in Native music, is proud to present, what many have called "the BEST traditional recording ever" by acclaimed artist Calvin Standing Bear (Lakota). "WAKAN OLOWAN - Lakota Pipe and Ceremonial Songs" is available now! For many years people from around the world have requested the release of a "quality" recording of TRADITIONAL LAKOTA CEREMONIAL SONGS, in which people could thereby have the opportunity to learn and honor Lakota Traditional Ceremonial ways, and the songs used in Lakota ceremonial traditions such as the "inipi" or sweatlodge ceremony. After much prayer and consultation with revered Lakota and Native leaders, this recording is now available! Calvin Standing Bear is an accomplished musician with other contemporary Native flute and piano recordings to his credit. He is a Sundancer and participates in many traditional Lakota ceremonies. Through the teachings of his relatives and elders, Calvin has been given the gift of song, and the opportunity to bring these traditional songs to the people, through his association with Oyate Music Recordings. With the purchase of this cd (with a percentage of the proceeds going to different Native American organizations such as the Leonard Peltier Defense Committee, the Crazy Horse Defense Project and others) the buyer will receive a certificate to obtain a FREE (Lakota-English) lyric / translation book to better understand these songs and to honor them and the spirits. It is important that people who choose to sing these traditional Lakota songs, do so in the proper way. This wonderful recording allows the listener to hear the subtle transients and articulation of the Lakota language in these songs and through the use of the translation booklet (available on-line) which comes FREE with every purchase!
