Craft a realistic business plan to develop your credibility. What NOT to do when writing your grant application. and more... than this may be the most important letter you ever read!

Dear Grant-Seeker, If a business grant is essential to lifting your venture off the ground, you better not pull any punches with your application. In a world of mediocre grant applications, you must make sure yours has something better. Your application better deliver the goods and turn a few heads. Because if you don't capture the attention of the person reviewing your grant... you're most likely going to have to figure out how to run your business without the extra cash. The Secret Of Winning Business Grants You may have seen on TV that the government is just WAITING to give you free cash as a government grant. But the truth is, most government grants are given to medical and educational fields. Applying and winning a government business grant is hard work! That's why it's so important to find the right business grant program for you. (I'll show you how in my ebook.) Some grants are better suited for your business - and it'll take a lot less work to successfully compete for these than one that doesn't fit. Plus, the people reviewing your grant application are looking for certain, specific elements. And NOT every business owner will know to include them in their application. Will you? Will You Make These Mistakes On Your Grant Application? Some business owners don't understand how important it is to be very specific about your budget needs. When your grant is reviewed, they're looking for people who are really just after money... ..and not to launch a successful business. You need to prove that you're not one of them. And that's just one mistake rookie grant writers make. My ebook will ensure you don't make this fatal error, and several more other applicants WILL be making.
