Elements Used In Any Sales Page Sales page are designed keeping only one thing in mind - to get the visitor click on the "order" button. There are tens of thousands of sales pages out there but only a fraction of them are making real money. Only about 5 of the sales pages are actually "pulling" orders and making all the money. The secret to building a successful, money-making website lies in "Page Designing" Your page should be designed to keep your visitors reading all you have got to say about your products and hitting the "order" button immediately. To keep reading, your sales page should be designed in such a way that it is convenient to read, easy to understand, easy to navigate, should not strain the eyes of the reader and finally easy to order from you. Sales Page Analyzer Professional Edition can analyze and produce results about all the design elements used in any sales page, including: - Name of the Domain or
