If six months ago someone would have told me I could get an absolute flood of people to my website, or to any affiliate product I wanted, on command and absolutely free, I would have laughed in their face! I mean c'mon we've all spent countless hours looking for that one technique that seems just around the corner, but never is. Bought that "once in a lifetime" course that was supposed to be the next best thing. Or attempted a website promotion scheme that didn't deliver. I can't even remember how many different opportunities I've tried - and how much money I've wasted!! I had fallen prey to all the internet noise and was suffering from what I like to call, a serious case of "information overload." I thought that I had jumped through all the hoops to succeed. I spent many days and nights putting up websites with unique content, obsessing over search engines, starting Google Adwords campaigns to promote affiliate products and even throwing money at a variety of different types of advertising campaigns. What a waste it was. My websites were ghost towns and my ads were losing money fast. Basically I was sinking and going nowhere without a paddle. The more time I spent online searching the more frantic I became, then a disturbing thing happened. Like a compulsive gambler trapped in Las Vegas, I lost control. I spent more on advertising than I was bringing in. I started maxing out my credit cards. I even borrowed money from a friend just to try to keep my finances afloat. I stopped going to the movies, eating out, and enjoying life. My life consisted of working and sleeping. I needed help and I needed it fast! Have you ever had one of those Ah Ha moments when you could finally see things clearly for the first time? Im talking about one of those life changing events when you knew things just clicked. As incredible as it may sound, several months ago I had one of those moments and it hit me like a ton of bricks.
