

Youtube-to-mp3 Converter :: Php Script For Win32 Systems

DOWNLOAD HERE

This software does the following for you: . Converts both YouTube and Dailymotion videos (the 2 most popular video hosting sites in the world) . Outputs converted files to mp3, mp4, flv, and/or 3gp formats . Displays download AND conversion progress via corresponding progress bars . Leverages the power of FFmpeg (ffmpeg.org/) to create crisp, clean, quality conversions of audio/video files. . Includes a tool that creates ringtones of converted mp3 files . Validates video URLs prior to conversion . Facilitates the addition of more video hosting sites as well as converted file types (by editing the code) . Expanded config file for a more customizable interface . Secures access to the server so that FFmpeg commands can only be run if a unique token is present . Includes script that can be run as a scheduled task on the server, that deletes old converted files and ringtones . Programmed entirely in easy-to-read PHP OOP (Object Oriented Programming), JavaScript/jQuery, and CSS to facilitate effortless editing/customization of code This software requires the following server configuration: . Linux, Windows, or XAMPP/WAMP server . For commercial servers: Shared, Dedicated, and VPS hosting supported . Apache or IIS . PHP 5.3+ . cURL enabled . ffmpeg.exe (executable file, provided in Win32 distribution of this software!) for Windows & XAMPP/WAMP; ffmpeg-php (PHP extension) enabled for Linux . Thats it! Installation: . Unpack/Unzip the distribution file and upload the contents to a new directory on your web server via FTP . Ensure that the logs, output, ringtones, and videos folders (in your new directory) have write permissions - On Linux systems, this generally means marking the folders with chmod 0777 . Set the location of FFmpeg in config.class.php via the _FFMPEG constant - On windows systems, this is something like /YourDirectory/ffmpeg.exe - On Linux, this will generally be something like /user/bin/ffmpeg . Configure additional constants/variables in config.class.php as needed . Set up schedule.php as a scheduled task (or cron job on Linux systems) if you require old, converted files to be deleted on a regular basis - The age of files marked for deletion is configurable via _MAX_AGE_FILES constant in config.class.php - It is recommended that the scheduled task run daily . Navigate to index.php of your new directory, and start converting videos! Support: . 100 Free support for life! . Support for this script is provided via the following online forum thread: codingforums.com/showthread.php?t=205066 . Notifications about Patches/Fixes to the code will be posted in that forum thread Demos: .
