The Easiest Way To Create Unlimited Audio Buttons For Your Web Sites, E-Books, Ebay Auctions And More... Date: Tuesday, February 24, 2009 Dear Friend, If you are like most people marketing anything on the internet, then chances are you rely heavily on your website to close the sales for you. The big problem with leaving all the sales to the quality of your website is that not all websites, or sales letters for that mater are created equal! Now dont get me wrong, Im certainly not claiming to be a master copywriter, or website designer myself. In fact I dread trying to write sales copy as much as you probably do. I just sit down at my computer and just start telling the story about what my product does and how it can solve a problem the potential buyer may have. I try to first come up with a headline that grabs the readers attention. In this case: Does Your Website Talk? If You Said No, You Could Be Loosing A Small Fortune Everyday... Is that going to reel them in? Heck I dont know, to be honest I havent got the first clue! Ill give it a shot and if it doesnt do the trick Ill test some other headlines until I start seeing some sales. Maybe I should invest in a copywriting course, one like Power Copy Writing For The Internet, I hear its good. While I know this is probably what I should do, to be honest I just dont have time right now to read 150 pages about copywriting. I just got this hot new product finished and I really need to just make a few sales to pay the bills I racked up creating it. Ill learn to write later when I have time. For now I am just going to go for it, and keep my fingers crossed... Now the problem with this, is that I have many times put thousands of dollars into developing a new product, only to find it does not sell worth beans. I am sure you have done the same thing as many times as I have. Now I have my new website up, Ive written the sales letter. Now I am going to start advertising like crazy (more money down the drain if it does not close) and the sales will start rolling in right! WRONG! Boy was I wrong in a big way.... Two Thousand in development, another $ 2k in advertising.... Number of sales = 4

:( Is this due to no one having any interest in my product? I hope not, I thought it was a great idea when I first started developing it... My guess is more times than not it is my sales letter that is not closing the deal. Maybe it does not describe the product effectively. Have you ever read a sales letter only to ask your self half way through it, what are they selling here? or just plain gotten so bored you stopped reading after the first half page? Now if your like me you can not afford to spend between $5,000 and $15,000 to have a Michael Fortin, or a Dave Vallaries write your sales letter for you. Your going to either have to settle for a cheap copywriter that will probably not get your point across, or close any more sales than you will.... Or you can sell your product with streaming audio.... Hummm, streaming audio huh....? that sounds technical, and I have a hard enough time even putting up a website Well it does not have to be, not anymore anyway... Now You Can Get Your Message Across Loud And Clear! The new IPC Audio Wizard software can now do your selling for you. Yep, you read that correctly, you will no longer have to put so much of the weight of your conversion ratio on your sales letter, or the look of your website. Now you can let IPC Audio Wizard do the selling for you. Whether you are a total computer novice or a total computer expert, if you want to easily put audio on your website then IPC Audio Wizard was designed for you! Its as Easy as 1, 2, 3... Step 1. Record your audio button message (or use your pre recorded audio file). Step 2. Choose the style, size, and type of audio button you want. Step 3. Paste and upload the button and the generated (Flash .swf) file into your website! IPC Audio Wizard is super simple to use... Step 1: All you need to do is plug your microphone into your PC, hit the record button and start talking, or use other pre recorded mp3 or wav file that you might have! Yep, its as simple as that. Once you have finished recording your greeting, or sales message, just click stop and your half way to having your own streaming audio selling your product for you at a new heart stopping rate! Once you have recorded your audio, you goto step 2 where you will select a button color to place on your website! Sound easy? it is.... I had this new software created with ease of use in mind and made sure there are no un-necessary or confusing steps to make it work. In fact to make it even easier I have created a video tutorial that will guide you along every step of the way... Step 2 : Select Your Audio Button style, color and background... and click create! There are no shortage of colors here, we covered every possibility to make sure there will be a color that will match your website! Step 3:Set the options for your audio buttons, like the width of the buttons, name of the audio file, then copy the code you have to insert to your webpage Step 4: Thats it, now you will generate the flash file of your audio message and all you have to do is to upload the generated flash file to your web server.... Thats it, you now have the power of audio selling your product from your website for you, 24 hours a day 7 days a week! Tags: ipc audio wizard, website audio, websites sales
