Research from the University of Washington conducted in 1999 stats: The average

American is exposed to 500 to 1,000 commercial messages a day . That's anywhere from 182,500 to 365,000 commercial messages that a person will view this year alone. And that was way back in 1999!!! Imagine what it probably is today! It's no wonder that people have become "Banner Blind" and constantly block or exit from Pop-ups with their itchy trigger finger. Isn't there something else? Something that is less intrusive yet more effective. A type of advertisement that makes my customers WANT to see it, instead of Repelling them from your site? YES! Finally There Is! It's a New Breed of Ads that's not only pleasing to the eye, but also incredibly effective in drawing in your customer's attention, causing them to click, and most importantly getting more of them to reach for their wallets because they're actually interacting with your ads now instead of running from them.
