All Websites Are Not Created Equal! Are You Sacrificing Profits and Search Engine Rankings Due to Poorly Automated, Inferior Website Code? Join the Ranks of GURU Coders and Master the Art of HTML Quickly and Easily with WebsiteFX Site Builder! All Successful Webmasters know that clean, valid HTML code is an essential ingredient for every website. They know a well crafted page with high quality content will always get the most visitors and the best results. Cut-throat competition for traffic and revenue demands these webmasters learn and refine valuable coding skills. Theyve discovered even the most basic HTML knowledge gives them far greater control over their websites. Theyve also discovered this gives them a huge advantage over their competitors, earning them more visitors, more leads and more sales. Could You Write a Line of HTML if Your Websites Life Depended on it? If you answered No to this question, youre not alone. Each month hundreds of thousands of website owners look to the search engines for basic html help. Why? Unfortunately, many webmasters begin their online projects the Easy way. They discover what looks like a shortcut and use automated, wysiwyg style software which promises quick results. You may have discovered these tools often leave site owners with very little control over website design and functionality. But did you realise they also provide little understanding of how a website should be built? The problems dont end there. Many of the sites created with these tools will not be viewed correctly in different types of browsers and can also take forever to load. Usually this occurs because the code created by these website builders is filled with confusing, cluttered HTML tags. This useless, wasted code may seem pretty harmless to you at first. In fact You may not even know its there! How would you know it if you didnt create the HTML Yourself? Even if your new masterpiece looks fantastic to You and Your friends, its very likely your website is being ignored by the most important visitors of all! Search Engine Spiders Love Clean, Efficient HTML! Theyll visit More Often and rank Your site Higher if they can see quality content with clear, correct code. And we all know that high Search Engine placement means one thing. Free Traffic! Traffic that can make Your website a HIT! Are you getting your share? If you are like most website owners, you know very little about HTML. You may know

a little bit of code here and there, but it really does not seem worth your time to learn the inner workings of HTML. If you feel this way, then you are really missing out on great SEO opportunities. Mark Daoust Site-Reference.com With Desperate, Daily competiton for Search Engine traffic, it has NEVER been more important for a Webmaster to actively learn and utilize Correct HTML coding. Competing with Professional SEOs and Huge marketing budgets will be almost Impossible if You dont know the basic prgramming languages of the Internet. Isnt it time You learned how to code? Fortunately HTML and even PHP are really just like any other languages! They can be picked-up Quickly and Easily by Everyone when practiced and used regularly. You can pick up the basics in just a few short days, or you might choose to develop an indepth, expert knowledge over a longer period of time.
