During days in Glens Falls, NY, singer/songwriter Jeromie Charpentier put a list of originals together and asked Alan Dunham of Lylac Studios to record it. What resulted was a CD, called Live @ The Java. 4 songs were taken from it, which are available in a zip file for download for $5. That's right 4 songs for $5. The now defunct Java Shop where these songs were recorded, used to sometimes be called "The Java". Hence the title "Live @ The Java". A few copies of the full-length CD were sold locally. The songs are Critical Mind-I used to meditate, and one suggestion is to look at the thoughts as ____mind. Like Worried Mind, or Angry Mind. I found some very critical thinking, and not the good kind. I wrote a song about it...I've found many could relate if they are honest enough. Sunday-a blues rocker about wanting to spend the "day of res" with a newly found relationship, but it didn't happen. Your Love-an up tempo rocker sort of like "you aint' seen nothin' yet meets DMB. About realizing the need for another persons love(or it could be God) Finish Me Off-I'm dying in this relationship, end it already Get yours today. One customer says"It sounds good, I have it on my ipod"
