After learning every banjo tune note for note on Flatt and Scruggs' classic recording Foggy Mountain Banjo Charles began to study under renowned South Carolina veteran banjo player Al Osteen. At age 18 he began playing with ex-Bill Monroe sideman Curtis Blackwell and his band The Dixie Bluegrass Boys. With them he toured extensively throughout the eastern US performing at Bluegrass festivals. It was during this time that Charles began listening to a wide array of banjo players and other musicians as well. His style of playing encompasses musical genres from traditional Bluegrass to Classical. Charles maintains many banjo students in upstate South Carolina and western NC. Charles has won first place in such distinguished contests as the 2005 Rockygrass Banjo Contest in Lyons, Colorado, the 2004 SC State Banjo Contest, the 1998 Merlefest Banjo Contest in Wilkesboro, North Carolina and in 1999 and 2006 the prestigious Winfield National Banjo Contest in Winfield, Kansas. Charles Wood currently performs with several bands including Curtis Blackwell And The Dixie Bluegrass Boys, The Wild Hog Band, The Lonesome Road Band, and Doug McCormick and Southern State Of Mind. Recent venues include performances at The Biltmore Estate in Asheville NC, Brevard Music Center, The Brooks Center at Clemson University, various regional and national Bluegrass festivals, and opening for a rare appearance of Tony Rice and John Carlini. Charles was recently invited by the actor Steve Martin, an accomplished banjo player himself, to perform with him and Earl Scruggs, Pete Wernick, and Tony Ellis at the 2005 New Yorker Festival in New York City. With this group he made an appearance on The Late Show With David Letterman. Charles four cds entitled "Somewhere Over The Banjo", a Christmas CD "Banjo Noel", "Tour de Banjo" and "Halo Over The Banjo". These CDs encompass many styles of playing and show the versatility of the 5-String banjo. Charles' future plans are to produce more CDs and expose banjo music to as many people as possible. With every performance he seizes the devotion of new fans and rises above the expectations of his old ones. He is a musician whose music will endure.
