Details: Born in Florence, Italy in the fall of 2006, The Bogart's Acoustic Trio is formed by Luca Gelli (guitar), Andrea De Donato (bass), and Stefano Ferraro (vocals). Their project takes various international songs which are then formed into new original arrangements. Thanks to their numerous live concerts, the trio has developed its own musical style of acoustic sounds which melt in a unique mood for all types of music, from jazz to rock. The peculiar musical mix of The Bogarts gives life to various different atmospheres: some songs are simply reinterpreted, others are completely revisited. Their repertoire includes classics like "Save a Prayer" (Duran Duran), "This Is Not America" (Pat Metheny and David Bowie), and "Rock the Casbah" (The Clash), songs which seem different from each other, but in reality, find a common connection in the way they are performed and arranged by the band. The growing interest of the audience at The Bogarts concerts convinced the band to release this first album, produced by Bozorius for Drycastle records
