

Mp3 Dwayne Dopsie - Traveling Man

DOWNLOAD HERE

Zydeco excitement, vocal and accordion with authentic Louisiana band. 10 MP3 Songs

WORLD: World Fusion, FOLK: Folk Blues Details: Dwayne Dopsie The Zydeco Hellraisers "Traveling Man" Sound of New Orleans (SONO) is proud to announce the release of Dwayne Dopsie The Zydeco Hellraisers first SONO recording, Traveling Man! Dwayne (Dopsie) Rubin is the son of the legendary "King of Zydeco," Alton "Rockin' Dopsie" Rubin, an accordion master. Born March 3rd, 1979, Dwayne Dopsie was raised in Lafayette, Louisiana at the center of the zydeco culture. He was immersed in zydeco literally from birth. By the age of four, he was already accomplished on the washboard, the instrument of choice of his older brother, but soon switched to the accordion. By the age of six, he had already appeared in a Community Coffee television commercial and later performed on The Dolly Parton Show. After traveling the zydeco circuit with his family, Dwayne formed his own zydeco band at the age of 19, continuing in the family tradition of playing southwest Louisianas unique music. Along the way, he has achieved national and international recognition. Dwayne Dopsie has performed on CBS This Morning, The Travel Channel, Discovery, 20/20, Good Morning America and The Fox Television Network. Another extraordinary moment was with his father and brother performing at Super Bowl XXIV. In 2006, Dwayne Dopsie The Zydeco Hellraisers were invited to play for the U.S. Ambassador in Nassau for his Fourth Of July Celebration. Dwayne Dopsies immense talent, technical proficiency, and charismatic stage presence have garnered him numerous national and local industry awards. In 1999 The American Accordionists Association called him "The Hottest Accordion in America. His band won New Orleans' "Battle of The Bands" competition in 1999 and 2000 and was also voted "The Best Zydeco Band" by Offbeat Magazine in 1999. In both 2001 and 2002 Offbeat Magazine named him "The Best Upcoming Artist. On December 3, 2002, Hey Rosalee from his 2002 independently released CD, Now it Begins, hit #1 on Mp3.com's zydeco chart after fewer than two months online. In 2004, he was voted Best Accordion by the Best of the Offbeat Awards by Offbeat Magazine, New Orleans, Louisiana. Dwayne Dopsie The Zydeco Hellraisers has performed not only across America but also internationally, both live and on film. In 2004, the group was filmed on MTV in Brazil, and Programa JO in South America. It completed music for a television show, Nikki Nora, filmed in New Orleans to air on UPN Network, and was featured on The Jamie Kennedy Show airing on the Warner Network. Dwayne Dopsie The Zydeco Hellraisers has appeared as a featured act of the prestigious New Orleans Jazz Heritage Festival annually since 2000, and was a headliner at the Syracuse Blues Festival in both 2001 and 2002. The national and local press has taken note of the group as well. Dwayne Dopsie The Zydeco Hellraisers was featured on Playboy's website and has been covered in the New York Times, USA Today, and the Los Angeles Times. In 2002 alone, Dwayne Dopsie made the covers of three New Orleans publications: Big City Blues Magazine, The Insiders Guide to Lovin' New Orleans: Visitor Magazine, and Offbeat Magazine. In 2003, he was featured on the cover of The Louisiana Music Directory. The Internet abounds with information on the group in the many exciting Zydeco web sites. All the buzz is entirely justified. Traveling Man is both accomplished and vibrant. Reinterpreting authenticity can be a tricky proposition. Traveling Man does it by combining the heart and soul of zydecos traditions with the energy and modern sensibility of a young band. Dwayne Dopsies songwriting showcases his superb playing, and his band brilliantly supports both. The result is incendiary, soul-stirring zydeco.

1. My Babys on the phone - 4:33
2. I wish you was mine 3:29
3. Peace of Mind 3:37
4. My Louisiana Beauty 2:57
5. Traveling Man 7:19
6. Whered My Baby Go 4:12
7. My Name Is Hurricane 4:14
8. Thinking of You 3:19
9. Everybody Say 3:10
10. Zydeco Two Step 2:38

Dwayne Dopsie - accordion and vocals Ronnie Sam - washboard Calvin Sam - drums Glenn Sam - bass Chad Welling guitar Curnis Andrus - saxophone "Traveling Man " was recorded after Katrina blasted her way through New Orleans. These songs were recorded earlier in New Orleans, but the masters were lost in the water! Dwayne (Dopsie) Rubin is the son of the "King of Zydeco," Alton "Rockin' Dopsie" Rubin. Born March 3rd, 1979, Dwayne Dopsie was raised in Lafayette, Louisiana, where he grew up listening to and playing zydeco music. At the age of four, he played the washboard like his brother, then he picked up the accordion and followed in his father's footsteps. Recorded at Sugarhill Studios, Houston, TX Engineer: Steve Christensen Mastered by Allen Corneau; Essential Sound, Houston, TX Produced by Gary J. Edwards In 2004, performances on MTV in Brazil, and Programa JO in South America, and completed music for TV show Nikki Nora filmed in New Orleans to air on UPN Network. In 2003, Dwayne Dopsie appears on the cover of The Louisiana Music Directory. Dwayne Dopsie The Zydeco Hellraisers has performed on The Jamie Kennedy Show featured on the Warner Network. Notably, on 12-03-2002, Hey Rosalie, from his 2002 independently released CD, NOW IT BEGINS, hit #1 on Mp3.com's Zydeco chart after less than two months online. Dwayne Dopsie The Zydeco Hellraisers, have performed not only coast to coast of the USA, but also internationally. They have been a featured act of the prestigious New Orleans' Jazz Heritage Festival yearly since 2000. Dwayne Dopsie The Zydeco Hellraisers were headliners at the Syracuse Blues Festival in 2001 2002. Dwayne Dopsie The Zydeco Hellraisers have been featured on Playboy's website and numerous articles published in the New York Times, USA Today, and The Los Angeles Times. In 2002, Dwayne Dopsie made the covers of Big City Blues Magazine, The Insiders Guide to Lovin' New Orleans: Visitor Magazine, and Offbeat Magazine. Awards: 2004 - Best Accordion by offBeat Awards by OffBeat Magazine, New Orleans, Louisiana 2001 2002 - Dwayne Dopsie was named "The Best Upcoming Artist", by OffBeat Magazine, New Orleans, Louisiana 2001 - New Orleans' "Battle of The Bands" 1999 2000 - "The Best Zydeco Band," by OffBeat Magazine, New Orleans, Louisiana. 1999 - "The Hottest Accordion in America," by The American Accordionists Association. After traveling the Zydeco circuit with his family, at the age of nineteen, Dwayne started his own band and has continued in the family tradition of entertaining. Some highlights of his career (besides entertaining with his dad), were a Community Coffee commercial at the age of six, as well as a stint on The Dolly Parton Show. Another extraordinary moment was with his father and brother performing at Super Bowl XXIV. Dwayne Dopsie has performed on CBS This Morning, The Travel Channel, Discovery, 20/20, Good Morning America, and, The Fox Television Network. In 2006, Dwayne Dopsie The Zydeco Hellraisers were invited to play for the U.S. Ambassador in Nassau for his Fourth Of July Celebration.

DOWNLOAD HERE

Similar manuals: