The first Discipline studio CD moves quickly from delicate to demented. Singer Matthew Parmenter establishes pretty melodies over lyrics about uncomfortable and, at times, disturbing subjects. Running Time: 56 minutes, 14 seconds. 8 MP3 Songs ROCK: Progressive Rock, ROCK: Extended Jams Details: NEARfest 2005 welcomes Matthew Parmenter North East Art Rock Festival July 9 10, 2005 nearfest.com/ The members of Discipline originally met as high school students in Royal Oak, Michigan. They gained a following in the Detroit area partly because they performed challenging, original music, and partly due to their strange live shows. Lead singer, Matthew Parmenter, delivered each song in a different costume behind a thick coat of mime's makeup. After the release of Push Profit, Discipline played numerous shows throughout the U.S., sharing bills with new and established artists such as Ozric Tentacles, Steve Howe of Yes, Anekdoten, and Echolyn. Discipline has been featured on radio shows in Europe and North and South America, and the band flew to Norway for a tour directed by a Norwegian college. Push Profit (1993) was released on the independent label, Strung Out Records.
