Logic began his love for Hip-Hop as early as he learned to walk. He began writing lyrics and freestyling as young as 7 years old, and has continued ever since. Logic's musical background extends far beyond writing and performing. His father is a Jazz musician and has instilled his vast knowledge of the music industry in Logic. Logic was born to do Hip-Hop. The group Double Edge was formed 2 years ago through a close friend of Logic and Crager. Vincent "CoV" Iwuji brought the two MC's together after letting Logic hear an album/demo that Crager recorded in Tennessee with Mitch Dane and Jars of Clay. Logic liked what he heard and both artists met with the vision of building a Hip-Hop creation that would take the music industry to another level. Crager and Logic started there own record label in 2002 called Crossover Entertainment. They are both co-founders and CEO's of the label Crossover Entertainment. Double Edge has been very busy in the past 2 years working on their debut album entitled "Classic" which contains 15 original tracks, mixtapes, club singles, DJ radio intro's, on-line promoting, performing, and artist showcases.
