When I first came online, one of the most difficult things that I had to overcome was designing a professional webpage. With little to invest and no experience at all, I faced the same two options that most people face when creating a web site... Option 1 Hiring a professional web site designer - Looking though the internet directory for a decent web designer wasnt a problem at all. In fact, there were hundreds of designers striving to get their foot in and start working immediately! But there was one problem...their prices were way too high! A great number quoted me prices over $1,000 for a one page design. Ouch! I just didnt have the budget for that. Now even if I did, just the thought of pulling out that much money on one web page design was too much to swallow...think of all of the other things I could do with that money like advertising! Option 2 Do it yourself from scratch - Then there was another option that I had - To design the entire site myself. I researched HTML code and found myself more confused than I was before I began. If I tried to edit the page by changing just a little snip of code, it would completely deform my entire page. It was so frustrating. Then even with those WYSIWYG (What You See Is What You Get) editor software programs, it didnt do me much good. They were really good for editing existing layouts, but not much help for creating them from scratch. At the moment, there isnt a third option. But, your very lucky, there is another option...and its the best one by far! So what is the best option? Well friend, your about to find out how you can.....
