Teacher and the Rockbots are the cartoon band with the smartest fans. They take elementary school science subjects and turn them into really cool rock songs. 14 MP3 Songs KIDS/FAMILY: General Children's Music, KIDS/FAMILY: Kid Friendly Details: This 13-song CD reinforces elementary school science lessons in a kid-friendly way with humor, modern rock music and commentary from a robot... think 21st century "Schoolhouse Rock." And to make the songs like a game, clues are given in the verses so that listeners can try to guess the answers before they are revealed. The New York Post says, "So catchy are the songs that kids will forget they're learning." "The Scientific Method" is explained by designing a simple experiment to find out who farted. I dare you not to laugh while you learn! "Water Cycle" and "Electricity" grab plenty of attention through head-bobbing, infectious energy while "Where Will I Go?" is punctuated by a resounding toilet flush after a journey through the human digestive system. Good stuff for a kid. - - - - - FREE Smart-Kid Worksheets are available at teacherandtherockbotsso that parents can see how much their kids are learning from these songs. - - - - -
