As a musician, he has performed with artists such as Fleetwood Mac, Men at Work, The Beach Boys and kirtan artist Krishna Das. On his spiritual journey, he lived as a vedic monk for years in India and has followed many well known teachers. He has also been the host of the Oxygen network show Inhale, which is currently airing, and has built quite a loyal following around the country. "Grace", his first music CD, is an eclectic mix of musical styles unlike anything already out there in this genre. From Rock to Gospel and even a stop in Brazil, he has covered many musical bases and created something that's even accessible to listeners outside the spiritual music arena. In Steve's words: Grace is the Name of the Game , chants for modern yogis, transcends the norm. It is chanting to illuminate, lighten and uplift those who sing or listen. I find it's one of the most effective ways to open the heart and still the mind, especially for people in the Western circumstance. All of the chants are ancient names of God which invoke the presence of the divine. To sing them with devotion is to feel the joy inherent in them. Try it and see for yourself.
