We have also worked with Service Electric TV and have played some of our tunes live to raise funds for children with Cancer. To help out with our music and make people smile is what we are all about. Please let us know your thoughts on our music, we would love to hear from each and every one of you. Who are the Green Marbles? Guitar Vocals My name is Frank D Finocchio and I am the front man for The Green Marbles. I can't lie I have an obsession with the color green. Green this and green that, I can't get enough. So if you happen to see my green guitar or look into my (green) brown eyes or hear The Green Marbles rocking you are sure to see green through me. I started out in music at an early age my father introduced me to the guitar at eleven years of age. We spent many days playing out on the front porch. My early musical influences were going to blue grass festivals and playing with my pop and his friends. As I grew up into my teens I discovered girls, cars and money and the music fell to the way side. A few years back I started to have a desire to play again. Writing followed and in the past few years I have written many songs. I find comfort and satisfaction in writing music and lyrics and at times throw myself into writing for days. What I try to accomplish in my writing is to get across a real message or touch on a worldwide relevant topic that people can relate to. The biggest thing that I enjoy about writing and making music is when people come up to us and say "That song really affected me or I can really understand what you are saying" That makes it all worth while. As well as being a music nut I am a father with four children and I have a wonderful wife. I am thankful for her understanding attitude toward this project and all that I do. Being a wannabe rock roll star can take up a lot of time and she has always given me more than I deserve. Bass My name is Don Allen (Lt. Marble). I'm currently single (although sharing a nice relationship with a cute blonde. Ha Ha!). I have a 6-year-old son that is my best buddy. I hope to pass on what musical talent I have to him. He already has perfect pitch on his own. I have many years as a musician mostly self-taught, I've played bass and guitar both in bands and churches I've attended. It's hard to choose a band or solo mentor. My tastes can be pretty diverse. I do take a good interest in Sting and Vertical Horizon. They share positive lyrics and good grooves. As a musician I have concern to iterate positive themes to the public. Who wouldn't want to be recognized as a musician, but giving people something to think about has great perks. I've been through many of the same struggles that many are going through. I hope that through the venue of music we can share the solutions to ease some of the pain in a cruel hurting world. Drums Hi. My name is Eddie Stanko and I'm the drummer for the Marbles. I tend to be a little on the quiet side, so I let my drums do the talking for me. I have never been content to just listen to music. I always felt like I wanted to be a part of it. When I was little, my dad and I would get out coffee cans and pencils and play along with records . At age fifteen, I decided to take lessons and learn how to play properly. I enjoy playing and listening to all kinds of music - jazz, metal, blues, classical, it all depends on my mood. Some of my other interests are playing and watching hockey (I'm a big NY Ranger fan). I love cars (especially ones from the fifties), Formula One racing, hanging out with buster, my ol' slobbering brown dog. Being married to my wife is one of the highlights of my life and I'd be lost without her. I thank her and my parents for all their support, sacrifices and encouragement throughout the years. Above all, I have to thank God for all that he has given me and hopefully, I can give something back by playing my music.
