"Year after year, I was tired of offering the consumers the same old fare. Seems to me the public deserved more than Guy Lombardo's dated and sleepy version from 1939 or other assorted ho-hum, no-name versions of the traditional holiday standard." The market was lacking bright, updated, and contemporary versions of the New Year's eve classic, which is what prompted Reynoso to spend a small fortune contracting a grammy-award fetching producer and the best studio musicians in Texas to create five unique and distinct versions of Auld Lang Syne. Geared to the New Year's Eve party market, the song is available in Country, Polka, Freestyle Disco, Disco Vocal, and a classy traditional version produced with digital technology unavailable in Lombardo's time. The CD even features 1-minute countdowns solo or premixed with your favorite version of Auld Lang Syne. This is an essential party tool no New Year's Eve party host can do without. Reynoso's hunch was right! The CD has been featured on CNN News and the content has recently been licensed for use in a Hollywood film. Since 1999 the CD has quietly grown to become the recognized cd-of-choice for anyone needing Auld Lang Syne for any occasion.
