We realize that having women in our life is the BELIEF - strong belief that when once installed in subconscious mind - giving us perfect life situations where meeting women happens naturally and effortlessly. Yes - after some time of use of similar affirmations to those - women start to approach us. For some un-important reason like asking for something very trivial and seems to be very willingly to keep the conversations! We also figured out that if we try to re-program our minds - if we use less affirmations then 8-10 sentences we got faster results and more stable! We use this affirmations: Beautiful women approach you! You are approached by beautiful women! Women approach you and start conversation! Women love to talk with you! You have always abundance of women! You are very attractive to any women! You attract the right woman for you! You feel comfortable around women! You have super self-confidence and you radiate with love, passion and joy! Women wants to be with you! And you are open to new relationships with women! Of course these are affirmations - BUT they are create new reality - where women feels naturally about approach you. When look deep down into seduction - women usually send signals to men - then men approach them. BUT there are a lot's of examples where women send signals - man send signals of interest back - than women approach that particular man. There is also another very important question: IF women will not interest in us - even if we learn seduction for many years to perfection - she will interested in.
