Soulful songwriting, smooth seductive vocals, and emotional lyricism are only a few elements which bring success to LA-based urban/soul vocalist. 15 MP3 Songs URBAN/R&B: Rhythm Blues, HIP HOP/RAP: Hip Hop Details: Elliott's outstanding debut LP, foundationed by his stellar self-produced tracks, brilliantly showcases his mature, strong and precise vocals. The album unfolds like a romantic novel with the smooth opening track "I'm In The Notion." This r&b ballad maintains a seductive emotional core by stimulating audience anxiety about the experiences in love and romance. Up tempo songs like "Fix You With Some Ooh Ahh" and "You're So Fine" follow in the grand tradition of urban/hip-hop tracks while "I'm Down For You" demonstrates that Elliott is just as comfortable in a jazzy up tempo vein. He clearly expresses that true love is a priceless commodity that spawns from the heart in ballads "Not Gonna Let You Down" "Have I Been Captured?" and the passionate classic "Sweet Candy Love." Music has played a major part in Elliott's life, since the day he took his first piano lesson at the age of three. Born and raised in Manhattan, Kansas Elliott served as pianist/organist of various church and school choirs. As a 1997 graduate of the United States Naval Academy, he participated in several choirs and musicals as pianist/vocalist. "Though my college experience was very challenging for me, I learned a great deal about working hard in order to reach the ultimate goals. The same type of determination that I had to successfully complete my, at times, seemingly overwhelming college experience will be used to the utmost as I journey through my music career.
