Florida Slide Guitar Blues from the Sauce Boss, the guy who cooks gumbo during every performance, including those he and his band give to clients at homeless shelters throughout the US. 13 MP3 Songs BLUES: Slide Guitar Blues, BLUES: Swamp Blues Details: Unadorned, with little or no production, these twelve originals and one traditional tune on "Raw" were cut live in the studio. Scorching slide guitar slathered like habanero sauce over his very original blues. The Sauce Boss uses no effects on his 53 Telecaster or his 59 Les Paul Special. No need when you put them through a Fender Pro Amp made in 1948. The authentic sound is the foundation that Outlaw Blues, All That Meat and No Potatoes, The Shakes, and Deep in the Shed all have. Hurricane Blues was written, played, and sung by someone with first hand experience. Florida native, Bill The Sauce Boss Wharton has weathered more than a few hurricanes. And after playing and serving his famous gumbo to Katrina survivors in Louisiana, as well as homeless people all over the USA, he righteously sings the blues. Sweet Stuff is as sweet and funky as the stuff hes singing about. Taxi in the Rain and Left Handed Smile are nailed. Both are ballads without the schmaltz. Every Inch of Your Body and A Hundred Times a Day are reminiscent of old Southern Rocking Blues. Sauce Boss covers the traditional, rollicking, Digging My Potatoes to kick off the disc. So with love and potatoes, the Sauce Boss sincerely sends his sound. People who are interested in Elmore James Howlin Wolf Ry Cooder should consider this download.
