Details: King Chiaullee are an acoustic celtic music group from the Isle of Man (a small island between Ireland and the UK) who have been playing together since they met up at High School in 1993. Their repertoire is made up mostly of original compositions mixed in with traditional Manx, Scottish, Irish, Welsh, Breton, Cornish... Basically, if the tune is good they'll have it! With a lineup of two fiddles, whistle, bouzouki, bodhran, mandolin, guitar and double bass; the band has a unique and exciting sound. Reel:ode is the band's second album recorded in 2003 after the band members had returned from University. The CD is full of exciting tunes, ideas and certainly has no dull moments! "Mammoth tune sets of frightening collective complexity sit alongside short, sparsely arranged showcases for individual talent" - Stephen Hunt, Greenman Review
