By the early 1970s, soul music had been influenced by psychedelic rock and other genres. The social and political vibe of the times inspired artists like Marvin Gaye and Curtis Mayfield to release album length statements with hard-hitting social commentary. Artists like James Brown led soul towards funk music, which became typified by 1970s bands like Parliament, Funkadelic and The Meters. More versatile soul groups like War, the Commodores and Earth, Wind and Fire became popular around this time too.
