Dennis Massa Dennis Massa, composer, narrator, and principal talent, is a graduate of Nassau Community College, NY (Applied Science in Criminal Justice) and David Lipscomb University, Nashville, TN. (BA : in Counseling/ Theology, Languages: Koine Greek, German Classical Hebrew). He has pursued and been active in Music all his life and is currently writing and recording for children of all ages. Dennis first started playing guitar at the age of nine, inspired by Elvis Presleys Blue Suede Shoes. He went on to study music in Nashville, becoming part of a traveling troupe of musicians, playing to audiences throughout the south and Midwest. His wide range of interests included fund raising for anti- drug youth groups. Dennis, best known for his original songs, and off-beat childrens music such as : WACKY WACKY WABBITTS, ISH KABIBBLE, AND THE KOOKABORO JAMBOREE, delivers a refreshing new sound to childrens music. He approaches each song or group of songs, as a visual idea. First he invents a character or situation and then designs songs around his characters creations. In addition to writing songs, playing guitar violin, he also builds guitars and violins, and creates original Sumi-e watercolor art. Dennis has been a past president of the NY Sumi-e Watercolor Association of America, under the tutelage of Master Sumi-e Artist , Mitsuko Bickham. Whose works have been exhibited at the National Arts Gallery in NYC. Denniss potential in music video and performing offer strong opportunities for creating a comprehensive multi-media product, including coloring books, animated / live music videos, sing-along books, audio CDs T.V. /cable kids show, and much more. His fresh approach to childrens music, entice youngsters of any age to sing and learn as they are drawn into the world of his marvelous creations.
