Most people have grown so jaded and cynical because of the endless stream of these kinds of products that theyve completely disregarded even the idea of making money on the internet let alone getting rich from it. Heres The Truth! The truth is a lot of the time these schemes are just a scam and the only person making money is the person who posted the ad or is selling the product. But there is one avenue where people have been consistently making money for some time now. Some folks have been able to generate so much income from this method that they were able to quit their day job and go into business for themselves. This method is called affiliate marketing. So What Is Affiliate Marketing, And Why Physical Products? Affiliate marketing is actually a fairly simple concept and why it works makes a lot of sense. Basically what happens is large online retailers like Amazon want to boost their sales. In order to do this they offer an affiliate program, which means that if Amazon sells a product on account of your marketing they will pay you a percentage of the value of the product that you helped sell. If you think about some of the products for sale on Amazon you can see how this can become profitable fairly quick. Think about a TV for instance. Most TVs are in the $800-$1000 price range. Amazons compensation program is somewhere between 4-6 for most products, so on a $1000 TV thats between $40 and $60 in your pocket! You dont have to pay sign up for this program, or keep an inventory of products. All you do is create an affiliate website that lists the products and then promote your website through SEO, social bookmarking, web 2.0, and various other methods.
