A wildly varied musical journey through one Cree man's worldview expressed in Native Flute, guitar instrumentals, songs, and spoken word in styles ranging from country to jazz 12 MP3 Songs WORLD: Native American, FOLK: Gentle Details: Ed Peekeekoot is a singer songwriter and a highly skilled fingerstyle guitarist with a great ability to entertain audiences. He can play just about anything with strings including fiddle, banjo, mandolin, and dobro. Ed also plays traditional Native flute and drums. Although he has lived on Vancouver Island for the last several years, Ed maintains strong connections with the Ahtahkakoop Cree First Nation in Saskatchewan where he was born and raised. Growing up in a musical family, Ed began playing professionally when he was 16. Ed has twice been nominated for the BC Country Music Association Instrumentalist of the Year award. His Two Worlds tape was nominated for EP of the Year when it was released. One of Eds instrumentals, Land of the Raven was used as the theme music for a film series called North American Indian Portraits. Ed was featured in that series in a film called Gentleman Cowboy of Honkytonk. He has recently appeared on the APTN series Beyond Words. In May 2006, Eds song Wild Lilies to Wheat Fields was selected by the National Campus and Community Radio Association to appear on a compilation CD with works by fourteen other Aboriginal artists on the CD "Dig Your Roots - Aboriginal" which is number five in the Dig Your Roots series of compilations. Eds latest CD released in the summer of 2006, in the key of cree takes you on a captivating musical journey through one Cree mans worldview. Ed also released an acoustic guitar CD, Front Porch in November 2005. Both CDs have been very well received. Ed Peekeekoot is an important emerging Canadian Aboriginal artist and performer (National Campus and Community Radio Association of Canada).
