Piano solo covers in a classic rock format. 19 MP3 Songs ROCK: Classic Rock, POP: Piano Details: My bio is that I play the piano. If you had to choose just one instrument to sound like an entire orchestra, you probably would choose the piano. It all has to be done with ten fingers. It is my purpose to play popular music and to "cover" many of the great songs we all know and with which we have grown up. Thus, we need a singer to do the melody, and that will take up at least one finger. If we want harmony between more than one singer, that could take up three or four fingers. Then, we need a percussion section, so we need a couple of fingers for the string bass and drums. Many of these songs have guitar, and so we need one finger for a moving line, or perhaps several if we are strumming. Now, we have a rock band but not yet an orchestra. Many of these songs lend themselves to orchestration. If we have any fingers left, we may have to bring in violins, a trumpet, a french horn, or a snare drum. Therein lies the challenge.
