The miracle of Angelical Musico-biology The purpose of this recording is to cure negative thoughts, emotions and feelings by replacing them with positive ones. The meditative listening of these Angelical Sound Formulas has the capacity to restore health and refresh our spirit. By absorbing, integrating and transmitting the power of these invocations into the cellular membranes of our physical and spiritual body, we will experience the phenomenon of quantum resonance that constitutes the harmony of the cosmos. The invocations deliver the force of sacrament and communion with the whole of spontaneous healing that constantly takes place within the Unified Fields of the universe. Each cell is a living entity that works in co-operation with 50 trillion other cells that listen, absorb and are dictated to, by our thoughts, our social-cultural conditionings and our belief systems, be them true or false. By absorbing and transmitting the decrees of healing, we positively influence our cellular membranes. The receptors, located on the surface, disseminate this new information to the nucleus or core. The nucleus then activates the gene which corresponds to the re-establishment of cellular harmony while decontaminating the gene that is at the origin of the dissonance. The state of our hormonal biochemistry follows the rate or rhythm of our conscious and unconscious emotions. On this level of existence we are a reflection of our perception of reality and personal opinions. We are created in an image of what has been taught and imposed on us, without further discussion. Even God exists within us in the way we have been taught to perceive. We have the choice and the capacity to reprogram our spirit-body by bathing in the harmony of a pure and celestial sound environment. The nature of our faith directly affects each and every one of our cells and our genetic make up. Angelical invocations help unlock and release our old perceptions of reality by replacing them with new and positive ones. This transformation process invokes the manifestation of health and healing which generate the formation of beneficial hormones, specific to the re-establishment of the divine and innate harmony within each and every one of us. The receptors of our cellular membranes become engaged, therefore modifying the genetic code of our cells. By simply experiencing the music of the Healing Angel, you will feel the energy of these sound vibrations and bare witness to an improved state of health. Through the absorption of these powerful sound energies and luminous decrees, I am healed more and more and each cell is radiant, your brain will produce an energy field that will enable the production of neuro-transmitters and electrochemical neuropeptides, which act at a cellular and genetic level. As a result, your thoughts will trigger the production of favorable hormones that will transmit a harmonious message of health and healing to the receptors of your cellular membranes. The role of the positive affirmations, contained in this recording, is to gradually eliminate the destructive messages received from the conflict of perception and diagnosis. By injecting and absorbing waves of angelical harmony and agreement throughout your spiritual and physical body, at a cellular level, you will be supported by the most important influences in your life: The grace of God and the Angels.
