For the past several years Jaime Ciero has been the words and melodies behind some of Latin Americas biggest artists. Today, he steps out of the shadows and into the spotlight introducing his songs and his voice with the release of his debut album titled Volar. Born October 13th, 1971 in Santiago Chile, Jaimes music career began at five years-old when he wrote his first song, a ballad written for his moms friend, his first crush. It was a sign that he would go on to become one of the most successful balladeers in Chile. At the age of seven, by observing his father and uncle, Jaime learned to play the guitar and at sixteen, he discovered love in the shape of a bass guitar. Within six months of perfecting the bass, Jaime became one of the most talented and requested bass players in Chile. He began playing shows with different artists and recorded on various albums. Always having the hunger to grow as a musician, he studied harmony, and learned other instruments like piano and drums. At the young age of seventeen, he was arranging songs and conducting orchestras throughout Chile. Then one day, while working with the Chilean group Ariztia, he discovered that the group was looking for songs. He wrote the song Finge, which the group recorded and took to the top of the charts. After the success of Finge, critics were skeptical about Jaime as a composer and predicted that he would be a one hit wonder. Wanting to prove otherwise, Jaime wrote the song El Fotographo for the artist Adrian that also went on to be a number one hit. Jaime continued to prove that he was just as talented of a composer as he was a musician, writing songs for Luis Jara, Alberto Plaza, Luis Fonsi, and Alejandra Guzman. In 1995 Jaime was the 2nd place finalist at Chiles world famous Vina del Mar festival and was also awarded Best Musician of Chile by the Chilean writers society SCD. In 2001, at the height of his career, Jaime moved to Los Angeles with hopes of learning more about life and conquering new challenges. He continued to write and produce songs for other artists, but the desire to sing was calling him more and more. Then one day, his daughter Camila asked him, Why dont you sing your own songs when you have such a beautiful voice? At that moment, he knew it was time. In late November of 2006, with the help from some of the most talented musicians in the business, Jaime embarked on the production of his debut album. Writing, arranging, and producing every song on the album, Volar is a fresh new sound to Latin music. With songs like Volar, Ahora and Me Faltas Tu, Jaime stays true to his essence as a balladeer, but also mixes romance with rock on songs like Al Otro Lado and Me Robe Un Corazon and Latin rhythms like Empezar de Vuelta and Dona Claudia. With the release of Volar Jaimes career is sure to fly to new heights. As Jaime says, If everyone is commenting on a book, than there is nothing better than the guy who wrote the book to explain the meaning. If God gave me the words and the voice, then why not? Jaime Cieros much anticipated debut album Volar will be available January 2008 online.
