When you've the been hurt by opposite gender it can be hard to trust and open up again to someone new. Like the song says "You've lost that lovin' feeling....". On top of this it can be also tough to believe in yourself as well, to even consider yourself as desirable. All this has been trampled out of you. As you get your self confidence back you also need to let yourself feel those feelings that have bee bruised. To feel comfortable with thoughts and emotions of love, romance even appreciating in a positive way your own sexuality and anothers. One way to start doing all this is by using this frequency. It is designed to get those patterns rolling again inside you, to start feeling all these things again, and interestingly you might just find that your potential significant other starts to sit up and pay more attention to these areas in you. This frequency file is in WAV format and can be played with your media player on your computer or you can burn it to audio for CD playback. This file is a VERY high resolution pattern.
