your sales page is your voice on the Internet. Make sure that it speaks loud and clear to your potential customers. Dear Reader: A sales page that gets your message across is a must when marketing products or services on the Internet. Let's face it - when selling on the Internet you need a sales agent that properly puts forth your message with words and imagery. Your sales page is your virtual salesman (or saleswoman). Your virtual salesman needs to put forth the information you are trying to convey in a visually appealing and logically formatted way - otherwise the impression people will get from your page will not be the one you want them to have. You are probably wondering what the proper format is and how to implement that. Well you don't have to worry about that because I have included a web template that has everything on it that you need. You just fill in the blanks! This five part video series takes you step by step through the process of creating graphics for your site using free software and then putting your site together using a free web editor. Not only that. I will show you where to get more free web templates and lots of free pictures and clip art to use on your site. Who says you need to spend money to create a nice looking sales page? In fact the sales page you are looking at now was created using the free web editor. Even though I am a full time Internet marketer I still create my own sales pages using the free editor. If you are selling a product or service on the Internet it is important to have a sales page that has the proper format - and you will receive the template and all the information you need in this step by step video series. This is all the information you need to get you started!
