Native American, Jazz, Rock, Blues, Latin, Country, Folk 16 MP3 Songs WORLD: Native American, BLUES: Acoustic Blues Details: Native Americana Keith Secola's long awaited CD Native Americana merges roots music with a native soul. It's a musical journey from songwriter Keith Secola's seasoned perspective as he sings the stories from the many trails he's traveled through this North American land. As with all Keith Secola lyrics, songs tend to have a deeper meaning and some purely embrace the fun and humorous sides of life. The sixteen track CD features the debut singles Old Trader and This Land, the bluesy rock of Hummingbird, and longtime concert favorite Drum In The Car. Keith Secola is Anishinabe (Ojibwe) originally from the Mesabi Iron Range country of northern Minnesota, now residing in Arizona. Native folk blues rocker Keith Secola is an accomplished artist: award-winning musician, master guitarist and native flute player; singer, songwriter, composer and producer. His music is familiar to thousands of fans across North America and Europe, where he's been playing his brand of progressive music in concerts to a cult following for many years. Keith's famous song, "NDN Kars", is considered the contemporary Native American anthem and is the most requested song on Native radio in the US and Canada. Keith Secola is a 4-time Native American Music Awards winner receiving numerous nominations in various categories in recent years. Winner: Best Producer, Best Instrumental Recording, Best Blues/Jazz Recording, Best Independent Recording; with nominations for Artist of the Year.
