Jazz pop southern rock 11 MP3 Songs ROCK: American Underground, JAZZ: Jazz-Rock Show all album songs: Smoke Signals Songs Details: Jericho is comprised of all professional musicians and good friends who after years of playing as hired guns decided to form a group that satisfied each members musical inclinations. The sound ranges from southern spirituals to machine gun riffs that slap you across your grandmas face. Why? Because they can, and will continue to explore different genres all with the same recurring melodic theme. The members are Mark Salling, a classically trained pianist turned guitar madman who also weaves words and melody like an oriental seamstress. On the drums you have Ryan Utterback, a power player who not only excels at keeping everyone tight, but bringing the punishment when need be. On bass is Ashley Johnson who is as cool as he is calculated. Nuff said. On guitar is the almighty Jay Logan. A versatile rocker who sounds like a cross between Jimmy Page, Tony McAlpine and a 72 dodge charger that needs an oil change. Each member hails from a completely different part of the US. But it really doesn't matter from where, because they come together from your face all the way back to your temporal lobe and down to your soul if you have one. Whatever sound you dig, Jericho has got it covered and then some.
