Details: When the four members of The Irresponsibles got together, they knew they had something special. Their first rehearsal together netted three brand new killer tracks and a sound unheard of in Adelaide. The mix of funk ridden filthy guitar hooks, passionate yet ballsy female vocals, melodic rhythm driven bass and animalistic drums ensures that The Irresponsibles will catch the attention of anyone who hears them. Their live performances have left punters screaming for more as they are assaulted by a show so full of energy that it can barely be contained within the venue. This is a band destined for big stages and big things. Their debut demo single Save The Day reached the No 1 position on JJJ Unearthed in Australia and held firm for over six weeks while copies of the single sold out within a month. The Irresponsibles debut EP Beginnings is out now and represents twelve months of hard work and dedication. The six tracks run the gamut of human emotions from love to anger, joy to sadness, reaching for dreams and being crushed beneath them.
