The Marty Davis Show Band Marty Davis started out singing Country music but one of the most popular parts of his show has always been the Western music segment. (For those who dont know the difference: Country is what you hear on the radio currently. Its the nations favorite and most-listened-to music. Western is what we grew up with Gene, Roy and the Sons of the Pioneers. It tells the story of the Old West and the Silver Screen Cowboys.) Marty has performed to standing room only crowds in Nevada casinos (the Golden Nugget in Las Vegas; Cactus Petes in Jackpot; Fitzgerald in Reno to name a few), nightclubs, fairs, conventions, concerts and rodeos around the U.S. He spent several years singing bass and traveling the world with the legendary Fifties group, The Diamonds and, though he loved the good ole Rock Roll, he really missed doing his own kind of music. Marty returned to Western Music, along with Owen Johnston, bass guitarist and vocalist. Owen and Marty have worked together since 1982. Owens sweet harmony is reminiscent of Lloyd Perryman, one of the very early pioneers. Fred Epping has been with the show for 10 years adding harmony and a great guitar style. Together they will take you on a nostalgic trip through time back to when the good guys wore white hats, kissed their ponies instead of the girls, headed the bad guys off at the pass and always caughtem in the end! All without mussing up their rhinestone and fringed shirts and then rode off into the sunset.
