A great singer from Argentina, presenting her Latino songs and Tangos. 13 MP3 Songs LATIN: Tango, WORLD: Central American Details: Lidia Borda (born 1966) is an Argentinian tango singer. Lidia Borda whom the Rolling Stone Magazine described as the best tango singer of the present is regarded as the best female voice in the last decades, and she has been widely acclaimed. Lidia has been inspired by the pioneer interpreters of tango but at the same time she is a modern and original interpreter with a classic and unconventional repertoire that rescues beautiful pages of the genre, inexplicably forgotten. Born in Buenos Aires, Lidia Borda studied Fine Art, Music and Theatre. Though she had been singing since her adolescence, it was in 1995 that she decided to dedicate herself entirely to singing tango, (those times with her brother -tango guitar player- Luis Borda who actually lives in Germany) of which she has become one of the most important modern interpreters as a rare bird that cannot be pigeonholed with the standards in vogue after the 60s, located in a place near the great female tango singers of previous times. Borda has toured internationally in America and Europe and played at many of the main festivals around the world, including Grec, Spain; Festival de Otoo, Portugal; Cit de la musique, Chaillot, France; and The Bergen Festival, Norway. In 2002, she represented Argentina singing in representation of Latin America at the opening ceremony of the New Library of Alexandria in Egypt. In 2005 she was awarded the Konex prize Merit Diploma in the category Female Tango Singer. "La mejor cantante de tangos de la actualidad" (Revista Rolling Stone, Diciembre de 2003) "La mas bella voz. ...Lidia, en la plenitud de sus recursos artisticos, nos mata, nos destruye, nos aniquila con "La noche que te fuiste". Las grandes cancionistas de antao, ya lo sabiamos, han encontrado a una hermana, una personal heredera que canta los clsicos con amorosa actualidad."
