Includes the original version of "Maybe" from "The Life and Times of Grizzly Adams". Included with songs that only Thom could come up with. Rock to country to "Politically Incorrect". In answer to requests, his first collection in 10 years. 12 MP3 Songs POP: Today's Top 40, ROCK: Roots Rock Details: Thom Pace has been writing for movies, TV (including "The Life and Times of Grizzly Adams"), and TV movies for over 20 years. He released a single of "Maybe" in Europe and received the Goldene Europa Award (Europe's version of the Grammy) for Best Song. It was number 1 for 9 weeks and sold over 1 million copies for RSO Records. He then released the "Maybe" album on Capitol Records. After a self-imposed exile from the music business, he has just recently returned to recording, and has come up with a CD that definitely reflects his eclectic nature. There have been requests from all over the world for him to return to recording and this is the CD! Except for a "Grizzly Adams" medley and a song from the NBC movie "Can You Feel Me Dancing?", these are all new songs. Some of the songs are fun, but most are thought provoking and poke fun at what we call "Society". No one has ever put Thom in a category, nor do they try. His songs are all his. Hopefully this will be the start of more material from a truly gifted singer/songwriter! The "Grizzly Adams" fans are going to find that Thom is not quite like the song or the character from the TV series!
