Sweet-voiced, powerful acoustic rock featuring some of the team behind the sound of Aimee Mann and Fiona Apple 10 MP3 Songs ROCK: Acoustic, FOLK: Folk Pop Details: Produced by Hanson and her longtime partner/bassist Mike Chiaburu and recorded in Los Angeles by engineer Ryan Freeland (Aimee Mann, Joe Henry), "Already Gone" features the formidable talents of drummer Jay Bellerose and keyboardist Patrick Warren, who have performed with the likes of Aimee Mann, Fiona Apple, and Ani DiFranco, among many others. It was unbelievable to work with Ryan, Jay, and Patrick, because Mike and I admire them and the artists they've worked with so much. They really shaped the sound, and helped make this the album we've dreamed of making, says Hanson. The carefully crafted album ranges from quirky grooves to heartbreaking ballads, all held together by crystal-clear vocals. Hanson, Chiaburu and Bellerose recorded most of Already Gone live over the course of just five days, and the resulting album retains the organic, immediate feel of a live performance. The lyrics of Already Gone catalogue Hansons travels back and forth across the country, while reflecting the common 20-something struggles to reconcile relationships, career, and a sense of self in an increasingly turbulent world. Hanson says: Ultimately, this album is one long love song from many different angles. The songs, as I wrote them, helped me define what mattered most to me, and I think that anyone can identify with that process.
