Details: It all started out the year 2004, where a young boy from Polokwane, South Africa, had a burning desire to make a difference in the music industry. He had it all planned out in his mind, but for a while it seemed like nothing more than a vision. Later that year he met someone who would largely influence the direction of his life - his Other Half. Having all the know in house music and entertainment, his Other Half guided him into the path of music production. One afternoon, Other Half invited him into his studio where their first house track was created It revolves around you. Since then, with the ingenuity of the boy and the experience of his Other Half, the two halves have joined forces and become one to form CoreNaHouSe. It was electrical chemistry from the first day they met. With just one track, they spent three years approaching record labels in the city of Johannesburg, South Africa. After facing rejection so many times, they were finally accepted by the one label that knows no limitations - Uproot Records. With the excitement of their dreams becoming a reality, they went on to create even more house music. Within a period of six months they began recording CoreNaHouSe #37 in their university res. Room at Legae Tshwane University of Technology. More hit tracks emerged as inspirations came flying in. Now you can catch the product of their dreams, CoreNaHouSe, on stages all around the world, with their famous sound of the drum resonating in harmony with your eardrums.
