From Houston comes another star. Under the guidance of Mrs. Tillman, Shei traveled and performed at various places while polishing up her craft. Shei got her first big gig singing the chorus for Houston Rapper Lil' O in 1997, who was at that time managed by Destiny's Child other founder Mathew Knowles. While recording with Lil' O Shei met producer Crazy C., who has produced and re-mixed for several acts including OutKast, Goodie Mob, Jodeci, Scarface, Geto Boys and others. During this time Crazy C. was amazed at such a mature voice coming from this teen aged girl as she was being directed by the now superstar Beyonce' Knowles. As God would have it, Crazy C. would dedicate his life to Christ and start a label called Soulmuzick years later, meet a young and upcoming producer by the name of Dratoven, (while attending a concert by soulmuzick's first act S.O.U.L.), who would later turn out to be the husband of Shei who had just decided to dedicate her gift to Christ.
