If so, this is dedicated to you, from my heart to yours, my beloved." Jeannie Fitzsimmons ASCAP Compower Divine Lullaby CD Jeannie Fitzsimmons is a unique artist with her own music although she was a classically trained flutist and pianist. She has let go of the rigidity of some of that early training into a soft, cloud-like ease of flowing sound. This is feminine music, from the heart of a sensitive. Intuitive and inspired by colors, moods, and movement of emotional energy, her music flows like ribbons of sound through the atmosphere. Jeannie's professional acting and performance background in Hollywood, guest-starring in TV, Film and her singing with major artists on the road for several years, precedes her coming out as a healing music composer. A multi-platinum songwriter, she has songs covered by Dionne Warwick on DIONNE produced by Barry Manilow, by Dottie West, and by Anne Murray. She was a regular during the heyday of musical television variety and on the Glen Campbell Goodtime Hour as singer/sketch actress, then with Julie Andrews Hour before going fully into television acting and guest-starring in a dozen episodic TV shows. She was a media spokeswoman on over 350 national commercials while living in LA and working for major advertising companies. Her acoustic keyboard, flutes, angelic vocals are soothing, opening one to a deep healing, peacefulness, and leave an 'air of serenity' wherever she plays or sings--as other composers have reviewed. Primarily her CDs are strictly instrumental with her playing all instruments, however this has Jeannie wrapping her flute and voice around pianist Oman Ken's acoustic keyboard ion Sedona, Arizona. There is a sweet, and childlike whimsy in this Divine Lullaby CD with breathy but deep love songs to the soul, amplifying our soul call to love and sweetness, her music is quieting but not trance inducing, instead. are deeply soothing but allowing one to remain alert. A poet and speaker/author on holistic and transformational living and expanding, her expanding music is used for quieting an environment, while driving--remaining alert, and for those who wish to find that still, calm place of peace. It is intuitive, but not composed in trance, but clarity, alertness and awareness, and this translates in the music. This can be music used in the background while writing, making love, walking on the beach with iPod, or parallel to a cracking fire in the evening. It is music used by many healing practitioners, Reiki practitioners, massage therapists, hypno-therapists, ministers, chiropractors, and energetic healers. The soaring flutes, vocals and arrhythmic out of time music, allows one to 'fall into the gap' of silence and stillness within.
