Details: MASS MEDIA CONSTANT is a 21st century drum n' bass odyssey for the networked generation. By drawing influence from such sources as LTJ Bukem, Photek, BT, Pendulum, and The Sims, zircon ensures no two tracks sound alike. His signature electro-organic style, developed over the course of four previous breakbeat and trance albums, has morphed and evolved with the fast tempos and scintillating colors found throughout this album. As you listen, imagine a scene conceived by the artist during the album's creation - walking through a super-stylized version of Times Square at midnight on a Saturday, looking at all the billboards, bathing in neon light, hearing music coming from bars and restaurants, and watching cars and buses fly by. --- zircon (otherwise known as Andrew Aversa) has been a covert ops electronic audio specialist since 2002, and currently focuses on developing cutting-edge, rhythm-based defensive systems. His headquarters are presently located on the outskirts of Philadelphia, where he has developed an "organic electronic" compound used to construct his powerful brand of music inspired by artists such as the Prodigy, BT, The Chemical Brothers, Hybrid, Pendulum, and Fatboy Slim. Recent breakthrough research has led zircon to pursue music supply operations to film, TV, video games, ads, and other media platforms; his music has been detected on the soundtrack of the hit game "Super Street Fighter II Turbo: HD Remix" (360/PS3, 2008) as well as the U.K. drama Skins, the upcoming Vin Diesel game "The Wheelman" (360/PS3, 2009), and a host of other outlets.
