comical Halloween satire 1 MP3 Songs BLUES: Acoustic Blues, ROCK: Americana Details: Romance is what's on this vampire's mind. A once-a-year occurrence for this guy, the character Count Ridicula is induced annually by the practice of dressing as a vampire for Halloween. This unsuspecting everyday Joe undergoes a total transformation and goes trick-or-treating ... one night every year. A fascination with vampires and the annual ritual of becoming one has burrowed a deep impression on the mind of the man who once-a-year becomes Count Ridicula. Probably leaves lasting impressions on his mate, as well. Credits Produced by Billy "Graverobber" Williams, noted Grammy-award-winning Lyle Lovett co-producer, and the Count Recorded at the Crypt Studio in the land of the most beautiful sunrises never seen ... or only seen once. Musicians Acoustic guitar and vocals - Count Ridicula Baritone lead guitars - Billy "Axe Man" Williams Upright bass, drums, Hammond B-3, trombones and trumpets all played by Billy Wayne Roland.
