Pop/R&B music from an Adobo-eatin' dude. 15 MP3 Songs POP: Pop, URBAN/R&B: Rhythm Blues

Details: I'm not here to start off my biography to show off what "award-winning" song I've produced or co-written, nor am I here to mention about how many times I've gone platinum. Cause to be honest, I sure don't have an award-winning song, and I sure as hell haven't gone platinum. I'm just a 21 year-old Filipino American making music. Yes, Filipino. Don't be confused; I'm not African-American. I'm not Caucasian. I'm not Latino; I'm Filipino. And I'm trying to do my thing. Doubt me, racially profile me; I know it's already coming. But that's not going to stop me. This journey will be a struggle... but nothing's in my way. June 2007. My album is finally releasing. A couple years back, an album release never came to mind. Music was all for fun, and it still is. But finally... I'm taking my music to the next step. "Attitude". Yup. The album's called Attitude. At-ti-tude: manner, disposition, feeling, position, etc., with regard to a person or thing (Dictionary is awesome). It's our attitudes that make us function as who and what we are today. Our experiences give us a way to perceive life, but our attitude is what allows us to strive for our goals. And one of my goals in life, especially in music, is to spread good music, disregarding anything where people are categorized by means of looks, color, race, identity; where music is everything and image is nothing. I can write my own songs. I can make my own beats. I make my music based on experience. Whether it be love or life in general, I write about it. That's the beauty of writing. You have a good day, you write about it. You have a bad day, you write about it. And that's exactly what I do. I make music about past situations that I know others can relate to. Whatever song you hear of mine, I try to relay it to you all in a way in which you can totally understand, and at the same time, enjoy. And if you don't enjoy it, then it's just not for you; it's all good with me. I'm just an average Joe living a simple life; no glitz and glamour here. My day consists of serving God and Jesus Christ, school, school, more school, work, spending time with friends and family, and music. I have nothing to be ashamed of; I do not flaunt things I can't afford. I do not represent things I'm not really a part of or into. I'm just me. I'm just living a simple and innocent life. I'm a homebody most of the time... home is where I make music. Call it a DVD night, and I'm totally good to go. Movies, sports, working out, whatever; I'm into it. Just like any other normal human being. I'm down for whatever. I'd like to thank you for coming by my page to check out my music. And I sure hope you feel it. Either you've heard of me from your friend and looked me up on Limewire to find a bunch of my old stuff on there--the guy who sings "I Hide" and "Butterflies"--or you've stumbled upon this page by accident. Either way: thank you. You're awesome. And if you were so kind enough to support me by purchasing a copy of my debut album "Attitude", you'd be even more awesomer (if that's even a word). Once again, thank you for stopping by. If you've got questions, I've got answers. I'll try my best to respond to all your messages and comments. I really appreciate all the support that you all have given to me since day one. I'm just here trying to share my music to the rest of the world. Thanks, and God bless. Much love, Reynard Silva Tags: pop
