Songwriter, and Producer A native of Lawton, Oklahoma. His talent was discovered at an early age, given the nickname hook by his uncle, gospel was the beginning to his interest in music. At age 18 during the era of original R&B bands that played live he joined a musical trio with neighborhood friends, after showcasing locally for 4yrs the trio separated, leaving him to focus on a solo career. Hook "Over the years I've continued to develop my vocal, and production skills as well as knowledge of the music business, The road hasn't been easy I've endured many challenges in my pursuit of becoming a recording artist. Life experiences are the inspirations to my style." In 2000 da Hookman began recording his own music. While locally promoting a single he caught the attention of childhood friend De Marco West whom invited him to Atlanta. From that visit a label deal was negotiated with independent label Sharper Than Ever Records.
