"The best thing about the whole CD is that Gordon actually sounds as if he's having a ball reading these stories with his rich, distinctive Scottish accent." Children love to listen to these delightful, fun, Scottish stories over and over. 8 MP3 Songs SPOKEN WORD: Audiobook, SPOKEN WORD: With Music Details: Margo met Gordon when she heard his reading of "Morag the Wee Mousie" (You can listen to it here: scotsindependent.org/features/scots/morag.htm) Although she lives in Atlanta, Margo was born "a stone's throw" from where Gordon was born in Edinburgh, Scotland and his accent reminded her of her father's. They immediately became friends. Margo is a hugely prolific writer and asked Gordon if he'd maybe read a few of her stories so they could produce a cd. Well, since Gordon is a seasoned sound engineer and has his own recording studio (scotchproductions.com) it was just a delight for him to add music and sound effects to enhance the wonderful children's stories which Margo wrote. Then, Gordon's twin brother George came into the picture when the goat which Margo had done such a good job of drawing, had to be "tartanised" made into tartan. George is a graphic designer in Edinburgh and he kindly donated his talents to the project. For some more interesting stuff about Gordon, go to scotchproductions.com/glamrock.html

Margo Fallis was born in Edinburgh, Scotland. When she was 7 years old, her parents, three brothers and one sister sailed on an ocean liner to Geelong, Victoria, Australia. Life was different there and her mother couldn't adjust to Christmas in the summertime, so three years later, at age 10, they moved again, via ocean liner, to Glendale, California. After 2 years in the Los Angeles area, a final move was made to Salt Lake City, Utah. Margo graduated from East High School in SLC and got married shortly after that. She had 5 children, four girls and a son. Because of her large family, Margo started writing stories to read to her children when she tucked them in at night. As time passed, she started selling her stories to magazines and got a job writing children's stories for the Ministry of Tourism of Egypt and also worked for a similar company in Jordan, helping promote tourism there. Margo wrote articles for The SPectrum, the local newspaper of St. George, Utah and also did cover/feature stories for St. George Magazine. She began writing for several Arab magazines and traveled through the Arab world, interviewing people such as members of the royal family of Jordan. Margo also was thrilled to interview such authors as Clive Cussler, Mary Higgins Clark and Richard Paul Evans. A few years after her divorce, Margo remarried and moved to Atlanta, Georgia where she currently resides with her husband, Thom Fallis. Her children and seven grandchildren still live in the western USA and she misses them. At this time she writes children's stories for Electric Scotland, a huge website and is happy and proud to have finished this CD with Gordon Nicol. Margo keeps herself busy watercolor painting, drawing, writing, studying algebra, physics, chemistry, biology and physiology. She studies Islamic architecture and the Italian Renaissance artists. This is not all. In her spare time she is learning to play bridge, plays the recorder and is learning to read and write Chinese. She is currently a member of Stone Mountain Toastmasters in the Atlanta area and has just achieved her CTM, in only 6 months and is working on her ATM. Margo hopes you enjoy the cd as much as she enjoyed writing the stories for it.
