Related styles: WORLD: Celtic, FOLK: Irish Traditional Details: Rir is well known in the Milwaukee Irish music scene and has played at Milwaukee's Irish Fest for many years. They are known for distinctive instrumental arrangements of traditional Irish and other Celtic music on fiddle, keyboard and bodhran.

Their passion is to share their love of traditional dance tunes designed to get your toes tapping! They also demonstrate an appreciation for airs, waltzes, and O'Carolan compositions. Rir's album includes the singing of a young operatic tenor whose renditions of Irish songs often bring standing ovations!

"Milwaukee Irish music veterans Rira, Ed Paloucek on fiddle, Kathleen Congleton on keyboards, and Jack Congleton on percussion, are joined by tenor Stuart Mitchell on this live, and debut, album. The playing is almost flawless. Palouceks fiddling crosses from the extremely dynamic to the poignantly nuanced, the latter best shown on Askeaton Abbey. Kathleens skillfully backs and enhances Eds fiddle with her playing, or on the reprise of Kathleens Waltz, her taking the lead with elan. Stuart Mitchells singing adds a new edge to the band, and he performs well on Carrickfergus. Jack Congleton keeps the beat well syncopated. A very small but appreciative crowd provided background."
