Your Own FTP Software with Master Resell Rights, you can sell it at any price you want. Just activate the software, tell it where you have put your website files on your PC and then enter your FTP information (the user name and password provided by your web host). Then just click a button and the software will upload everything automatically. It doesn't matter how many files are included in your site - or what type of files they are. They can be HTML pages, PHP pages, images, zip files or anything else. Your site can contain a single file, a hundred files or ten thousand files. No matter what the content, the software will upload everything automatically, with a single button click. If you've created subfolders on your PC to contain individual product sales/download page, the software will create matching subfolders on your web host automatically and upload all your files into the correct subfolders automatically. And if for some reason, your Internet connection happens to fail during upload, just reconnect and you can continue the upload with a single button click. This really is the ultimate easy way to upload your website. But the power of this great software doesn't stop there. Once it has uploaded your site, the software automatically keeps track of all your web site files on your PC. When you add, delete or change any files, you can just activate the software again and it will make the same changes to your web host automatically. If you've added any files, these new files will be uploaded automatically. If you've created any new subfolders, matching new subfolders will be created on your web host automatically. If you've changed any files, the new versions will be uploaded automatically. And if you've deleted any files or subfolders, they will be deleted from your web host automatically. Once you start using this amazingly ftp software, I promise you'll never want to be without it! Tags: own, ftp
